The Miner says: C. C. Bean is busy engaged putting up a new building for the reduction of copper ore in Copper Basin. Inside of sixty days he expects to have his furnaces in operation and producing 200 tons of copper bullion per day. He claims to have millions of tons of ore in sight, with a prospect of finding a sufficient quantity of ore for the next century, at the expiration of which time we will be able to live in a land where there is no mining done.

Anonymous to the Miner the wool industry of northern Arizona is one of the most important places along the coast of the most formidable enterprises. Sheep can be brought to the Territory from either direction and landed upon the coast, grass is abundant. The increase is estimated at 70 per cent. The wool of 2000 sheep will produce 100 tons of wool of fine quality, therefore it can be seen at a glance that there is a chance for safe and remunerative investment.

A NEW ENTERPRISE.

The Arizona Publishing Company. Complete Printing Establishment, Stereotyping Works and Bookbinding to be located in Tucson.

Yesterday a new enterprise was inaugurated in this city, which it is hoped will prove of great benefit to Tucson and the Territory at large. We refer to the organization of "The Arizona Publishing Company."

This company has been organized for the purpose of establishing a complete publishing house in this Territory, with a bookbinder and every facility for turning out first class work in the line of book, blank and general job work, such as is done in the territory.

The capital stock of the company is $25,000. The officers and directors of the company are: J. A. C. Harris, President; and R. C. Brown, Secretary.

The new company has purchased the old Arizona Hotel, and will carry on its business at the place heretofore occupied by the Daily Citizen.

This change in no way affects either the Citizen or Journal, which have no connection with each other, but before they have simply gone out of the job printing business, between which the business of publishing a newspaper there is necessarily no connection.

The proprietors of the Citizen will continue to devote their time and efforts to keeping the paper in the van of the journalism of the Territory. In fact, by relieving us in part of a separate and distinct business, will enable us to give more attention to the paper.

The business and editorial office of the Citizen will remain in the same location as before this change. The Arizona Publishing Company, however, will be located at the old Arizona Hotel.

The company now has printing material from the East, also stereotyping and bookbinding material, and will be able to turn out all kinds of work such as is done in the complete city office, and will be able to handle all kinds of printing work in this line out of the Territory.
